A FELLOW AND HIS LODGE

Some people are lodge crazy and join everything in sight. They are called "joiners." Others are pessimistic and can see no good in any lodge.

But there is much good to be derived from membership in any of the legitimate lodges that flourish everywhere, provided the lodge habit is not carried to excess.

It creates a spirit of comradeship among the members that is seldom found elsewhere. If a member is in distress or difficulty, his lodge promptly comes to his relief and tides him over the rough places and into smoother waters. If he is sick, they cheer him with their presence, and watch at his bedside, and see that his family does not suffer during his incapacity. And in many ways they are a distinct benefit one to another.

The lodge is the symbol of the brotherhood of man, and its tenets are founded upon the Bible and advocate the elevation of the human race.

The fellow who identifies himself with some good lodge and lives up to its teachings will be a better man and citizen for the few hours he devotes to its meetings.

When ever you see and admire a beautiful woman, always remember that your own wife is, in your estimation, just a little more beautiful and just a little better than any other woman.

Belle of Maysville

The most wonderful whisky that ever drove the skeleton from a feast or painted landscapes in the brain of man. It is the mingled souls of wheat and corn. In it you will find the sunshine and the shadow that chased each other over the billowy fields; the breath of June; the carol of the lark; the dews of night; the wealth of summer; and Autumn's rich content—all golden with imprisoned light.

Drink it, and you will hear the voices of men and maidens singing the "Harvest Home" mingled with the laughter of children. Drink it, and you will feel within your blood the starlit dawns, the dreamy, tawny dusks of many perfect days. For many years this liquid joy has been confined within the happy staves of oak, longing to touch the lips of man.

A CITY MAN'S NOVEL SCHEME TO GET BACK TO THE FARM

ENLIST! NO CHANCE TO ESCAPE!

PREPAREDNESS COINS WILL GET YOU

For men who are disgusted with city life, and who want to get back to the farm, a scheme discussed in an editorial in the Farm and Fireside, should prove of the greatest interest.

A subscriber to Farm and Fireside with a family to support and little chance to save, but who had a nest egg of $2,000 as the result of twelve years economy discussed a co-operative farming scheme with some of his friends who were in a similar position, and most of whom were farm-bred. They planned to move to some section of the South where land is comparatively cheap and to settle as a community on a tract that would provide a farm of about eighty acres for each family. The plan was to buy the equipment for the farm on some co-operative basis, also improved breeding sires for stock raising, and building, house and farm supplies in the same way. With $2,000 apiece they would have enough and to spare.

"It was agreed that one or two heavy tractors and several light ones would furnish power to operate the machinery on a dozen farms, and by hiring one practical successful farmer to manage the entire farming operation, a reasonable degree of success could be counted on from the start. This plan appealed quite strongly to most of the men present who were farm-bred, and to the number of about fifteen altogether. What won the favor of a majority of these men was the idea of being able to establish an up-to-date school and provide conveniences such as running water and electric light by co-operative means from the start. This would be brought about by locating the homes in a little settlement in the center of the tract purchased.

"It seems to be an absolutely new angle of the back-to-the-farm movement," says the editor. "Of course there have been real-estate boom schemes floated along somewhat similar lines, but the development of a plan by members of a city church club to carry church and school and social organization and modern city conveniences into farm pioneering puts a new phase on the city-to-country movement."

"ALL WE HAVE EVER KNOWN."

Dr. T. O. Hearn, a Southern Baptist medical missionary in China, while in the home of a well-to-do merchant, saw the merchant and his friends bowing to a paper image of the god of wealth and offering all kinds of food to it.

"Do you think this god, which you bought for five cents, can give you wealth?" asked Dr. Hearn. "No." "Then why do you worship it?" "Because of habit; everybody does this." "Why don't you worship the true God, who gives you all you have? Do you not know it is a great sin to worship images?" "This is all we have ever known," was the reply.

A. B. Leonard, Corresponding Secretary Emeritus of the Methodist Board of Missions, died at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y., April 21, after an illness of some months.

HEARD AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Washington—The Democrats of the Senate spent a rather unpleasant half hour a few days ago when Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, exposed the extravagance of the present administration. Sheppard, of Texas, who has posed as an advocate of economy, came in for more than an average share of attention. Not long ago Sheppard introduced a bill proposing to make a reduction in nearly all governmental salaries until the present lack of revenue is overcome. Kenyon read the bill to the Senate, whereupon Galinger, of New Hampshire, recapped the fact that on the day after Sheppard offered that bill he introduced five bills to appropriate sums ranging from $50,000 to $250,000 for public buildings in Texas, one of the $75,000 appropriations being for a town with a population of only 936. Various Democratic Senators tried to come to the aid of Sheppard in the debate but they couldn't overcome the conclusion that platform pledges of economy were intended merely to catch votes and were not pledges intended to be kept while in office.

It is not all peace and harmony in the ranks of Democracy. There are a number of Democratic members in Congress at both ends of the Capitol, who are chafing under the White House yoke. It is all over the "legislative program" of the President. He wants certain bills and he desires to select the order in which they are to be considered, and this is where he has chafed the political skin of some of his party leaders. Many of the Democrats are expressing their views on presidential interference with the legislative branch of the government, in language more forcible than eloquent, and unless the breach can be healed, President Wilson is likely to find himself without a majority vote behind him on several propositions in which he is vitally interested.

Gossip about the Capitol is to the effect that a most vigorous and active campaign will be conducted by the Republicans in the House, during the coming months. Notwithstanding that every indication points to the Republicans controlling the 65th Congress, yet no stone will be left unturned. It is the intention to call the attention of the country in a nation wide campaign to the errors, short comings and mistakes of Democracy. In thirty-four districts now held by Democrats in the House a change of from 33 to 970 votes would have made the present lower branch of Congress Republican by 28 majority, so that it is any easy matter to figure out how close the Wilson administration squeezed by in the elections of 1914.

For some reason or other Democratic members of the present Congress have not seemed to enthuse over the latest turn in the diplomatic relations with Germany. Both publicly and privately they have been decidedly mum in discussing the situation and while everybody is rejoicing the crisis has apparently passed for the present, yet no one has yet had the temerity to rise up and hail the outcome as a great administration victory.

TAFT ADVOCATES NAVY EQUAL TO THAT OF GERMANY

Washington, Penn., May 30—Former President William H. Taft, speaking at Washington and Jefferson College here today, criticized the foreign policy of the present Administration toward Mexico and the Philippines, advocated a navy which at least would be equal to that of Germany, and an army reserve that would bring out an effective fighting force up to half a million men. Regarding Mexico he said:

"Mexico has become an international nuisance, but there is no use to cry over that split milk now. We have really intervened two or three times. If we had left the Mexicans to work out their own salvation entirely it could not be a worse job. I do not want to intervene. I know too much of the cost."

He also took issue with the peace advocacy of W. J. Bryan.

"When Bryan says he is in favor of resistance when attack comes, and that a single call for volunteers would raise one million between sunrise and sunset I think he is yielding to the intoxication of the rhetorical moment."

Mexico continues to afford its daily supply of outrages.

RATS' NESTS FOR FUEL

(Douglas (Ariz.) Cor. New York Sun)
Many Mexican refugees here are using rat nests for fuel at 25 cents a cord, or $5 a carload.

The idea of marketing these nests originated with employees of the Chiricahua National Forest, near here. The nests are being sold in accordance with the established policy of the forest service to market all valuable products of the national forests.

The nests are built of chips, bark, branches and other wood debris found in abundance on areas cut over by timber contractors. Pack rats are well known for their architecture. They collect this waste in large quantities and utilize it in the construction of their abodes, which frequently rise to a height of three feet.

According to forest officers the removal of inflammable trash improves the appearance of the Chiricahua National Forests, greatly decreases the fire hazard, makes more room for the growth of grass and tree seedlings and tends to reduce the number of pack rats, which are a notorious pest.

KNIFE

Hurled at T. R.—Hand of Teddy Grazed By Ugly Weapon But He Escapes Without Injury.

Kansas City, May 30—A knife with a six-inch blade was hurled at Colonel Roosevelt as he rode along Grand Avenue in an automobile today on his way to Convention Hall, where he spoke at 4 p. m., to a packed audience.

Ernest C. Shell, one of the American Legion guards, who accompanied the Roosevelt car, seized the knife and turned it over to the police.

Chief of Police Hammill has a good description of the man who threw the knife, but who forced his way back through the crowd and escaped before any among the hundreds who saw the act could stop him.

As the Colonel's car approached a tall man with brown clothes and a straw hat forced his way toward it from the sidewalk. When he was within ten feet of Roosevelt he drew a long-bladed knife from an inner pocket.

Leaning over the heads of those before him, he took deliberate aim and threw the weapon at Roosevelt. Had his throw been a few inches higher the knife would have reached its mark. Instead its point struck the door of the car, where it was imbedded for a second. Then it fell on the running board.

Policeman Hides Knife

With a curse the man forced his way backward and the jostling crowd helped to hid his identity.

Fearing a riot might follow the spreading of the news of the attempted assassination, Ernest Shell, one of the American Legion guards, who saw the incident, picked up the long-bladed knife and handed it to the uniformed policeman who was following him.

"Put this in your pocket," Shell told the officer. "Keep it hidden from the crowd."

The policeman obeyed and secreted the knife.

Detectors are endeavoring to locate its owner.

Colonel Roosevelt was bowing and waving his hands to the opposite side of the car and was unaware of the incident.

John McGrath, Roosevelt's private secretary, said the knife grazed the Colonel's hand without inflicting any injury.

A man who gave the name of Edward McDaniel, and said he was from Tulsa, Okla., was arrested late today. According to the police, he tried to force his way into the Roosevelt suite at the Muehlebach Hotel.

"I Have Business With Roosevelt"
"I got business with Roosevelt and I've got to see him," he is quoted as having said.

He was unarmed and is being held for investigation.

MINISTER SAYS IT'S NOT TRUE

Washington, May 30—Official Washington was puzzled today by a news dispatch from Mexico City, which stated that Foreign Minister Aguilar had announced that no new note had been sent to the United States by General Carranza.

Agular intimated that a communication had been under consideration, but offered no explanation as to why it had been withheld.

Manuel Mendez, an attache of the Mexican Foreign Office, arrived in Washington yesterday. Prior to his arrival State Department officials had been unofficially informed that Mr. Mendez was a special messenger from General Carranza and carried a communication which would probably renew the suggestion that the American troops be withdrawn from Mexico.

Officials of the de facto Government in Washington also had received the same information, but Mr. Mendez, on his arrival said that he carried no note and was simply on a vacation.

For several days there have been rumors that President Wilson has been negotiating with General Carranza in a manner firm but effective. It has been reported that Carranza has acquiesced in the American view regarding the expedition.

Another rumor spread was to the effect that Carranza had agreed to put off further exchange of communications until after the national conventions, at the behest of President Wilson.

PUBLIC URGED TO EXPRESS LOVE OF AMERICA BY OBSERVANCE OF FLAG DAY, JUNE 14.

Washington, May 30—President Wilson today issued a proclamation calling upon the people of the United States to celebrate Flag Day, June 14, with patriotic exercises, giving expression "to our thoughtful love of America." The President declared that the people should rededicate themselves "for an America which no man can corrupt, no influence draw away from its ideals, no force divide against it-self."

The proclamation follows.

"My fellow countrymen:

Many circumstances have recently conspired to turn our thoughts to a critical examination of the conditions of our national life, of the influences which have seemed to threaten to divide us in interest and sympathy, of forces within and forces without that seemed likely to draw us away from the happy traditions of united purpose and action of which we have been so proud.

"It has therefore seemed to me fitting that I should call your attention to the approach of the anniversary of the day upon which the flag of the United States was adopted by the Congress as the emblem of the Union and to suggest to you that it should, this year and in the years to come, be given special significance as a day of renewal and reminder, a day upon which we should direct our minds with a special desire of renewal to thoughts of the ideals and principles of which we have sought to make our great Government the embodiment.

"I, therefore, suggest and request that throughout the nation and, if possible, in every community, the 14th day of June be observed as Flag Day, with special patriotic services, at which means shall be taken to give significant expression to our thoughtful love of America, our comprehension of the great mission of liberty and justice to which we have devoted ourselves as a people, our pride in the history and our enthusiasm for the political program of the nation, our determination to make it greater and purer with each generation and our resolution to demonstrate to all the world it vital union in sentiment and purpose, accepting only those as true compatriots who feel, as we do, the compulsion of this supreme allegiance.

"Let us on that day rededicate ourselves to the nation, 'one and inseparable,' from which every thought not worthy of our fathers' first vows of independence, liberty and right shall be excluded, and in which we shall stand with united hearts for an America which no man can corrupt, no influence draw away from its ideals, no force divide against itself, a nation signally distinguished among all the nations of mankind for its clear, individual conception alike of its duties and its privileges, its obligations and its rights."

SIMPLICITY IS TO MARK HILL FUNERAL

St. Paul, Minn., May 30—Simplicity will mark the funeral of James J. Hill, pioneer railroad builder, who died at his home here yesterday.

The democratic spirit of the "Empire Builder" will follow him to his last resting place. His great home was opened to the employees of the Great Northern Railroad this afternoon, and the fact that today was a holiday made it possible for most of the several thousand employees of the company here in Minneapolis to view the body of their employer.

Funeral services will be held from the home Wednesday at 2 p. m. Right Rev. James J. Gibbons, Vicar-General, will have charge of the services. The funeral will be public, but only relatives, close friends and persons entitled to the Hill interests are expected to attend.

All day and through the night messages from all sections of the country were received by members of the family. They came from railroad Presidents, financiers, civic and state organizations and political leaders. All expressed grief at the loss of one of the nation's most widely known men and offered condolence.

All day throngs of persons passed the big brown mansion on Summit avenue. Every flag in the city was at half-mast. Wednesday all the banking institutions in the city will be closed at 1:30 p. m. The First National Bank and the Northwestern Trust Company, Hill institutions, will be closed at noon.

The Nile Mission Press, which prints literature for the whole Mohammedan world, has recently finished its tenth year of active service. About thirteen million of this have gone forth in the last ten months since the Press moved into its new quarters—the gift largely of American contributors.

SOME USEFUL DREAMS

Many Famous Inventions and Writings Are Result of Visions While Sleeping.

(Answers)

We are apt to regard a dream as waste material, which has no real reference or touch with life. But it is not always so, and the questions might be asked whether we make as much use of dreams as our ancestors in the earlier stages of the world.

There have been several cases of very abstruse mathematical problems, which have baffled the mathematician while awake, solving themselves in sleep. But it is probable that no modern man reduced dreaming to so scientific and useful a point as Robert Louis Stevenson.

He was a wonderful dreamer, and could dream in sequence, continuing a dream from the point where he had broken off, like a serial story. It was in this way that the greater part of "Jekyll and Hyde" was put together. Well, if a man can dream a masterpiece of fiction, it is worth something.

Ask any American what the most national hymn in the world is and he will say, with Colonel Roosevelt, that the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" is head and shoulders better than the best—that it "beats to a trill all the others."

Soon after the outbreak of the Civil War Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, who wrote the hymn, heard the soldiers singing "John Brown's Body." The tune sang in her mind, and she thought she would like to write new words to fit it, but they wouldn't come. She retired for the night, and dreamed the whole poem as it stands. Getting out of bed, and scarcely conscious of what she did, she wrote the verses, then got back into bed and slept till morning.

But perhaps the cake is taken in this sort of thing by the inventor of the sewing machine. Elias Howe was the machine, and his difficulty was not the machine, but the needle. He might have failed altogether but for this dream. He thought he was in a strange and savage land and was to be executed if he did not complete the machine and make it work.

He was given 24 hours, and he spent it in agony of work, apparently. It was all useless, until he was actually led to the place of death. On the way he noticed that the warriors who guarded him carried spears which were pierced near the head. Instantly the inventor saw the solution of his difficulty, and while he was begging for time he awoke. It was 4 o'clock in the morning. He leaped out of bed, rushed to his workshop, and before breakfast he had modeled the first sewing machine needle, with the eye at the point!

GROWING POPULARITY OF HOLLYHOCKS

In the June Woman's Home Companion is an article on gardening by Franz Biehler, who says that the growing fondness for hollyhocks can be partly explained by the formal and semi-formal style of garden that is now so popular.

"There is a wide diversity of opinion as to the best soil for hollyhocks. I have before me as I write the books of two 'authorities' one of which says they should have a very rich soil, the other one saying they should have a dry and rather poor soil. My own opinion runs with the former authority; and I would only insist that it is more important to have the soil in the very perfection of physical condition than to have it rich in plant food. Good physical condition is partly the result of original composition and more the result of constant deep and thorough cultivation.

"In colors and forms the hollyhock is just as versatile as any of our best garden plants. Indeed, the range of colors is unusually wide, and the colors are all good.

"Aside from the point of color the form of the blossoms cuts the largest figure in hollyhocks. There are several types of double, semi-double, ruffled and fringed, besides the good honest single sorts. The very full double blossoms have always been popular, and quite deservedly so, but it may be fairly questioned whether the single flowers are not more effective in the plain old-fashioned style of garden to which the hollyhock is naturally suited."

TYPEWRITING IN GLOVES

(Chicago Journal)
One New England statistical office, the proprietor belying in fresh air, has offices that are practically out of doors, making it necessary in winter for the typists to wear gloves, and, as these cause frequent errors thru striking two keys instead of one, small curved sticks have been put in use with which, instead of the fingers, the keys were struck safely one at a time.

Mrs. Charles Curran of East Fourth street was in Ripley Tuesday, the guest of Mrs. G. F. Young.
